

From: ann moffatt
Sent: Tuesday, 18 March 2008 10:13 AM
To: National Broadband Network Taskforce
Subject: national broadband network

hi people,

i consider the best solution to a national broadband network is to give the contract to telstra and take the infrastructure part of telstra back into public ownership. i understand telstra shareholders would have to be compensated but the amount of money wasted in duplicating telecoms infrastructure sickens me. if there were one publicly owned network that could be accessed by all retailers there would be a considerable saving to the community imho.

peace

annm

*****

Ann Moffatt

Doctor of Engineering (honoris causa) Grad Dip Technology Management, FACS, FBCS, CITP.

Director, Australian Computer Society Foundation

www.acsfoundation.com.au

*****